Laurence Edwards: A Gathering of Uncertainties

Orange Regional Gallery, New South Wales

Body and soul

A gallery in regional NSW has scored a major coup with this brilliant exhibition of sculptures.

"The centrepiece of the exhibition is Men Walking, a suite of five figures, each of them 240-250 cms tall, that conjures instant associations with Rodin's The Burghers of Calais...we study each figure in turn, then the disposition of the group. We don't know if these men are fleeing some battle or disaster, or walking towards one."

John MacDonald, The Sydney Morning Herald

The Sydney Morning Herald

"[Laurence] Edwards deconstructs the whole aggrandising, patriarchal history of bronze statues in his doubting, doubtful beings; no heroes have been erected in their making, no excuses have been made and a tradition of figurative bronze sculpture has been radically, daringly re-imagined."

Fiona Gruber, writer and broadcaster

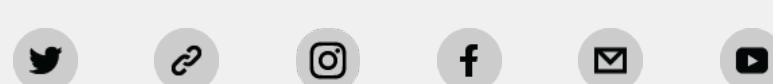

The exhibition continues in Melbourne in 2024.
